	Since last report	Since 1 October 2014
Queensland	7,700	519,700

- Very isolated areas of rain in Queensland, including a welcome fall of around 20mm around the Dingo region and a storm on the inner downs. Otherwise the weather in Queensland has continued to be extremely hot and dry.
- In NSW, harvest is largely complete from Gunnedah north; grain is still being delivered around Werris Creek. Some very hot days and strong winds were experienced last week, offset by some intense storm activity Sunday night and rain in some areas today, which will slow activity.
- Grain deliveries starting to intensify around the Yarrawonga and Elmore regions in Victoria, which are now getting into wheat. Activity has also started around Dunolly and very small amounts of grain are trickling in from the Western Districts. Some rain over the weekend and today is likely to slow activity substantially in the first half of this week.
